THE MAGICIAN'S TWIN

C. S. Lewis on Science, Scientism, and Society

science

Beloved for his Narnian tales and books of Christian apologetics, best-selling British writer C. S. Lewis also was a perceptive critic of the growing power of scientism, the misguided effort to apply science to areas outside its proper bounds. In this wide-ranging book of essays, contemporary writers probe Lewis's prophetic warnings about the dehumanizing impact of scientism on ethics, politics, faith, reason, and science itself. Issues explored include Lewis's views on bioethics, eugenics, evolution, intelligent design, and what he called "scientocracy." Contributors include Michael Aeschliman, Victor Reppert, Jay Richards, and C. John Collins.

John G. West is a senior fellow at the Discovery Institute. He is co-editor of The C. S. Lewis Readers' Encyclopedia and author of The Politics of Revelation and Reason and Darwin Day in America. He has been interviewed by major media outlets including Newsweek, USA Today, and the New York Times, and CNN, FoxNews, and C-SPAN. He holds a Ph.D. in government from Claremont Graduate University and he formerly was the chair of the Department of Political Science and Geography at Seattle Pacific University.

Evidence for a purely Darwinian account of human origins is supposed to be overwhelming. But is it? In this provocative book, three scientists challenge the claim that undirected natural selection is capable of building a human being, critically assess fossil and genetic evidence that human beings share a common ancestor with apes, and debunk recent claims that the human race could not have started from an original couple.

Ann Gauger is senior research scientist at Biologic Institute. She received her Ph.D. in developmental biology from the University of Washington and was a postdoctoral fellow at Harvard University. Douglas Axe is director of Biologic Institute and received his Ph.D. from Caltech. He previously held postdoctoral and research scientist positions at Cambridge University and the Babraham Institute. Casey Luskin is research coordinator at Discovery Institute's Center for Science and Culture. He earned his M.S. in earth sciences from the University of California, San Diego, and conducted geological research at the Scripps Institution for Oceanography.

bioethics / religion / science

Personalist Bioethics calls us to reflect on the intimate meaning of human existence and the social environment, going beyond any specific religious perspective and invoking human reason. It advances a metaphysics that is rationally grounded in philosophical anthropology and has a broad range of ethical applications for professors of bioethics, members of ethics committees, bioethics students, and those interested in the field in general, whether in medicine, law, or philosophy. Readers will find a presentation and discussion of the basic contours of personalist bioethics, comparisons of personalism with other philosophical positions, and ethical investigations of particular topics, ranging from genetic engineering to euthanasia. Translated by John A. Di Camillo and Michael J. Miller.

Elio Sgreccia, a former tenured professor of bioethics at the A. Gemelli School of Medicine and Surgery of the Catholic University of the Sacred Heart in Rome, is the former president of the Pontifical Academy for Life and current honorary president of the International Federation of Bioethics Centers and Institutes of Personalist Inspiration. He was a member of Italy's National Bioethics Committee and is currently the director of the journal Medicina e Morale.

The State of Our Unions 2012: The President's Marriage Agenda suggests family policies for our next president, whomever he may be. Leading scholars of marriage and family here come together to offer a fresh set of policy recommendations to whomever the nation elects this fall—or indeed, in the future. State of the Unions is an annual report that monitors the health of marriage in America, analyzes the cultural and social forces affecting married life in the U.S., and identifies cultural and policy strategies to strengthen the institution of marriage.

W. Bradford Wilcox is director of the National Marriage Project and associate professor of sociology at the University of Virginia. He is the author of Soft Patriarchs, New Men: How Christianity Shapes Fathers and Husbands. Elizabeth Marquardt is the director of the Center for Marriage and Families at the Institute for American Values and author of Between Two Worlds: The Inner Lives of Children of Divorce.

social science

Do the words “mother” and “father” mean the same thing or different things? If there are differences, do those differences matter? In Mother Bodies, Father Bodies: How Parenthood Changes Us from the Inside Out, social scientists and natural scientists come together to offer new findings on the meaning of parenthood which push the boundaries on recent assumptions about gender roles and parenting.

Kathleen A. Kovner Kline is an adult, child, and adolescent psychiatrist who has served on the medical school faculties of Dartmouth College, the University of Chicago, and, currently, the University of Pennsylvania. She also serves as chief medical officer of the Consortium, a community mental-health organization in Philadelphia. She is the author of Authoritative Communities. W. Bradford Wilcox is director of the National Marriage Project and associate professor of sociology at the University of Virginia. He is the author of Soft Patriarchs, New Men: How Christianity Shapes Fathers and Husbands.

Featuring 113 primary source documents, this reader was developed for teaching the core course on the U.S. Constitution at Hillsdale College. Divided into eleven sections with introductions by members of Hillsdale’s Politics Department faculty, readings cover: the principles of the American founding, the framing and structure of the Constitution, the secession crisis and the Civil War, the Progressive rejection of the Constitution, and the building of the administrative state based on Progressive principles. This extraordinary textbook is not only perfect for classroom use—it will provide interested readers with a traditional educational experience that enlarges their understanding of the American tradition.

The Hillsdale College Politics Faculty has painstakingly assembled this volume in order to provide their students with a deeper understanding of the American political order. They are now making this collection available for the first time to readers everywhere.

TO PROTECT AND MAINTAIN INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS

A Citizen's Guide to the Washington Constitution, Article I

.....

Jonathan Bechtle and Michael J. Reitz

A section-by-section analysis of the Washington Constitution's Declaration of Rights. Bechtle and Reitz review the state's 1889 constitutional debates, contemporary accounts of the convention, and significant legal cases. They urge citizens to become familiar with their state constitutions, as individual rights are often afforded greater protection from state constitutions than from the U.S. Constitution. With a foreword by Chief Justice Charles Johnson.

THE NEW JACOBINISM

America as Revolutionary State

Claes G. Ryn

A revised edition of a modern classic. Ryn gave early warning of a spreading movement which claims that America represents universal principles and should establish armed global hegemony. This new Jacobinism manifests a precipitous decline of American civilization and poses a serious threat to traditional American constitutionalism and liberty. With a new afterword.

THESE ARE THE TIMES THAT TRY MEN'S SOULS

America—Then and Now in the Words of Tom Paine

Edited by John Armor

Thomas Paine helped a majority of American colonists to think of themselves, for the first time, as citizens of a new nation—the United States of America. Paine's words have not lost their power with the passage of over two centuries. These Are the Times That Try Men's Souls eloquently connects the life and times of Thomas Paine with the crises facing today's America.

GOVERNMENT IS THE PROBLEM

Memoirs of Ronald Reagan's Welfare Reformer

Robert B. Carleson
Edited by Susan A. Carleson
and Hans Zeiger

“In Government Is the Problem, the man known as ‘Reagan’s welfare reformer’ tells just how the bold proposal that rescued his state from a sea of red ink (and released hundreds of thousands from government dependency) came to be. Carleson’s book is also a thoughtful primer on how inventive public policy can be applied on a state level and evolve into a national cause.”

THE LAST CRUSADE

Spain 1936

Warren H. Carroll

Why be satisfied with leftist propaganda on the Spanish Civil War? Warren Carroll's treatment of the events of 1936 is singular in Anglo-American scholarship for seeing the conflict for what it truly was: a death struggle against the Christian faith and a war against Christian civilization. This outstanding work of scholarship illustrates the phenomenon of the traditionalist as revisionist: the distortions of decades of Marxist historiography are overturned in Carroll's narration of the bloody struggle to preserve Western civilization in the heart of twentieth-century Europe.

Red Banners, White Mantle

Warren H. Carroll

A captivating account that narrates, month by month, the events of 1917, Red Banners, White Mantle is popular Catholic history at its finest. The drama of the Great War and the Russian Revolution are juxtaposed with the spiritual dimension of the age: the diabolism of Rasputin, the Apparition of the Virgin at Fatima, the malignancy of Lenin, the saintly courage of Charles of Austria. Few standard histories have given such a high degree of consideration to the supernatural and the Christian interpretation of history as does 1917.

ENVIRONMENTAL STEWARDSHIP IN THE JUDEO-CHRISTIAN TRADITION

Staff of the Acton Institute

A fair and honest debate about religious responses to environmental issues should always distinguish theological principles from prudential judgments. The Cornwall Declaration and accompanying essays in this volume were written to do just that. They were not written to provide theological rationale for current environmentalist fashion; rather, they seek to articulate the broad Judeo-Christian theological principles concerning the environment, and to distinguish those principles from contrary ideas popular in the environmental movement.

WORK: THE MEANING OF YOUR LIFE

A Christian Perspective

Lester DeKoster

Where do we find the core of life's meaning? At whatever work we do—with head or hand, from kitchen to executive suite, from your house to the White House! “Work is the great equalizer—everyone has to come to it in order to find meaning in living: no short cuts, no detours, no bargain rates.” Lester DeKoster (1916–2009) was author of numerous books, including Communism and Christian Faith and Light for the City: Calvin's Preaching, Source of Life and Liberty.

LIBERTY AND LEARNING

The Evolution of American Education

Larry P. Arnn

Arnn traces the history of education from the founding of the U.S. Office of Education (based on the Prussian system) in 1869 to the Higher Education Act of 1965 and its subsequent reauthorizations, to contemporary legislation. He connects these changes to fundamental shifts in our understanding of what education is, of the purpose and ends of government, and of what it means to be human. He offers insight into the idea of liberal education as it developed in Western civilization, marked by the confluence of biblical religion and Socratic philosophy.

THE NEIGHBOR'S KID ▶ Philip Brand

A Cross-Country Journey in Search of What Education Means to Americans

The Neighbor's Kid tells the story of what Philip Brand discovered when he drove cross-country and visited ninety-eight schools in forty-nine states. Brand ultimately concludes that government policymakers cannot set standards of educational “achievement” because true education is intimately tied to the cultural and civic experiences of families and communities.

Parents know how important good schools are when they are deciding where to buy a new house. But the neighborhood schools may not live up to their reputations, according to the findings in Not as Good as You Think. The book takes readers on a driving tour of some of California’s best neighborhoods (and some of its supposed best schools). Many parents have found out the hard way that despite what they have been told about their neighborhood schools, many students are not performing at grade level, let alone ready for college.

Charter schools are by nature different not just from traditional public schools, but from one another. Successful charter schools have perfected alternative models of organization, management, and discipline that shatter the status quo orthodoxy. In Free to Learn, charter principals and teachers—who often do things contrary to the public education establishment—offer hope and practical advice for the charter movement. After Hurricane Katrina, Free to Learn served as an inspiration and handbook for charter school administrators in New Orleans.

SANCTIFYING THE WORLD ▶ Bradley J. Birzer

The Augustinian Life and Mind of Christopher Dawson

English historian and Christian humanist Christopher Dawson stood at the very center of the Catholic literary and intellectual revival in the four decades preceding Vatican II. Poet and social critic T. S. Eliot considered him the foremost thinker of his generation. Dawson's reputation declined dramatically during the cultural shifts accompanying Vatican II, and few remembered him. With the recent revival of interest in Dawson, this book by historian Brad Birzer offers the first study of his life and thought as a whole.

FOR A NEW THRIFT

Confronting the Debt Culture

The Commission on Thrift

Cosponsored by eight leading think tanks, For a New Thrift describes the growing polarization in today’s financial landscape between two very different kinds of institutions. Pro-thrift institutions serve well-off Americans and provide a broad array of tax-advantaged savings plans and financial services. Anti-thrift institutions serve Americans who are struggling to live paycheck to paycheck with short-term loans at usurious interest rates. For a New Thrift calls for efforts to rebuild broadly democratic, pro-thrift institutions that will serve and reward the “small saver.”

EUREKA!

How to Fix California

Arthur Laffer

By a number of very important measures, California is failing. Especially considering the state's status as a bellwether for the rest of the nation, California cannot allow this downward spiral to continue unchecked. It must be reversed—and sooner rather than later. Eureka! is a prescriptive book providing a true economic roadmap for the state's rehabilitation. Laffer also looks at other states to endorse practical policies that have resulted in strong economic growth.

THE MYTH OF JUNK DNA • Jonathan Wells

According to the modern version of Darwin's theory, “junk DNA”—the non-protein-coding portion of DNA—is evidence for Darwinian evolution and proof against intelligent design (since an intelligent designer would presumably not have filled our genome with so much garbage). But recent genome evidence shows that much of our non-protein-coding DNA performs essential biological functions. The Myth of Junk DNA is written for a general audience and shows that “junk DNA” is not science, but myth.

IN THE BEGINNING ▶ Granville Sewell

And Other Essays on Intelligent Design

In this wide-ranging collection, mathematician Granville Sewell looks at the Big Bang, the fine-tuning of the laws of physics, and the evolution of life. He concludes that while there is much in the history of life that seems to suggest natural causes, there is nothing to support Darwin’s idea that natural selection of random mutations can explain major evolutionary advances. Sewell explains why evolution is a unique problem, and he summarizes many of the traditional arguments for intelligent design, while presenting some powerful new arguments as well.

DARWIN'S CONSERVATIVES • John G. West

The Misguided Quest

West addresses how Darwin's theory, contrary to its conservative champions, manifestly does not reinforce the teachings of conservatism, but instead promotes moral relativism and utopianism, and is corrosive of both free will and religious belief. As West explains here, attempts to reconcile conservatism and Darwinian biology misunderstand both.

TRAIPSING INTO EVOLUTION

Intelligent Design and the Kitzmiller v. Dover Decision •

David DeWolf, John G. West, Casey Luskin, and Jonathan Witt

In this response to the first trial to address the constitutionality of teaching intelligent design in public schools, the authors explore how the judge's decision in the case was based upon faulty reasoning, nonexistent evidence, and a serious misrepresentation of the scientific theory of intelligent design.

MIRACLES AND PHYSICS

Stanley L. Jaki

Two dangers confront the modern Christian regarding the apparent conflict between the role of miracles and the rigors of modern science. First, a naïveté that forces such shallow methods upon the scientific disciplines that the result is the evaporation of both reason and miracles. Second, the inherently irreligious spirit that empties the world of wonder out of homage to an outdated rationalism. Scientist and theologian Stanley Jaki makes a case for recognizing the needs of modern science and of establishing a proper understanding of the miraculous in history.

THE INTELLIGENT DONOR'S GUIDE TO COLLEGE GIVING

Anne D. Neal and Michael B. Poliakoff

American philanthropists long have been generous in their support of colleges and universities. But donors do not always find the results they envisioned for their generosity and good intentions. The Intelligent Donor's Guide to College Giving provides step-by-step instructions for donors on how to target their giving, with profiles of successful gifts. Find out how to ensure “that philanthropic dollars are investments in the values of America and its future.”

GUIDE TO NONPROFIT ADVOCACY

James Dellinger

A directory of over one hundred of the most prominent nonprofit public interest and political advocacy groups in America, both liberal and conservative. Each entry contains contact information, annual revenues, and bullet points of politically noteworthy activities. The guide is intended to inform readers about the political background and policy preferences of advocacy groups frequently cited by the news media.

THE GREAT PHILANTHROPISTS AND
THE PROBLEM OF DONOR INTENT • Martin Morse Wooster

Wooster provides fascinating case studies of influential entrepreneurs and philanthropists who established foundations that strayed from the ideals and intentions of their benefactors. He surveys precedent-setting legal cases that have upheld, compromised, or overturned donor intentions, and explains what donors can do to make sure their intentions are honored.

SHOULD FOUNDATIONS LIVE FOREVER? • Martin Morse Wooster
The Question of Perpetuity

In this companion to The Great Philanthropists, Wooster considers whether the legal lives of foundations should be limited to prevent successor trustees from ignoring donor intent. This volume surveys past congressional attempts to limit foundation perpetuity and offers case studies of donors who have put legal limits on their own foundations.

RETURN TO CHARITY • Martin Morse Wooster
Philanthropy and the Welfare State

Return to Charity shows how the Victorian idea of charity for the poor was replaced by 20th-century social concepts of poverty and social welfare, culminating in the “Great Society” welfare entitlement programs of the 1960s. Wooster also identifies modern American conservatives who rediscovered the older idea of charity and favor “faith-based” programs. Court cases permitting government assistance to faith-based groups are discussed.

THE CALL OF THE ENTREPRENEUR

This film tells the stories of three individuals: a farmer in rural Michigan, a banker in New York, and a refugee from China. Why do their stories matter? Because how we view entrepreneurs—as greedy or altruistic, as virtuous or vicious—shapes the destinies of individuals and nations.

Rev. Robert Sirico, author of The Entrepreneurial Vocation, joins Michael Novak, George Gilder, and other experts in exploring how entrepreneurs shape our world.

THE BIRTH OF FREEDOM

The Birth of Freedom examines freedom in the light of perennial observations and questions about the human condition. People are separated by enormous differences in talent and circumstance. Why would anyone believe that all men are created equal? Why would any nation consider this a self-evident truth? How is freedom born?

FLUNKED

Flunked is the story of schools that are breaking the mediocre mold of American education by attaining superior results in college preparedness, test scores, and graduation rates. Discovering that one size truly does not fit all, these schools and their administrators, teachers, and students are finding different ways to make education work in their neighborhoods. Narrated by Joe Mantegna.

"A fine film. Very informative, very challenging."

NOT AS GOOD AS YOU THINK

The Myth of the Middle Class School

Rowena Itchon, Lance T. Izumi,
and Sally C. Pipes

Not as Good as You Think shatters the myth that “good” schools are found in “nice” neighborhoods. The film takes audiences on a tour of America’s best neighborhoods to reveal that schools in affluent and middle class neighborhoods are not adequately preparing kids for higher education. It also contrasts the American public school system with that of Sweden’s, a socially progressive country that allows parents to choose any school that fits their children’s needs. (See page 28 for the companion book to this DVD.)
